The University of Haifa’s Younes & Soraya Nazarian Library serves as a deposit library for graduate research works (Master’s degree and Ph.D.) submitted to the University of Haifa.

According to the Graduate Studies regulations for Master’s degree and Ph.D. students, graduate students should provide copies of their works (in print and digital format) for conservation purposes.

The student will deposit a digital version of his/her work which is identical to the print version, using an online form instead of depositing it on a CD or Flash drive (Disk on key).

The deposited work in digital format, will be stored in the University of Haifa’s Younes & Soraya Nazarian Library digital database for conservation.

With the goal of improving access to information for research and teaching, the University of Haifa Library requests to permit access via the Internet to research works in accordance with the consecutive details and terms that you confirm by checking the box in the deposit form.

The writer of the work may request the library to refrain from publishing the digital format for a period up to 2 years. It is possible to prevent copying the work.
