

International MBA program in English With Specialization in Sustainability

Issues of environmental and social sustainability in business are increasingly at the heart of managers' responsibilities. Concerns first affecting the forestry, chemistry and mining industries are now progressively being extended to the whole range of manufacturing, retailing and financial activities. Thus, the vision of this proposed program is to establish a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree with a specialization in Sustainability. The University of Haifa's DBA Department of Business Administration is an ideal setting for providing excellent international and Israeli graduate students with the holistic mindset and depth of insight required to meet the challenges of today's management in senior corporate positions, small businesses, environmental consulting posts, government agencies and non-profit organizations.

The program seeks to promote sustainability-oriented leadership by training students with a suitable background from Israel and abroad to cope with the challenge of using in a sustainable way environmental and social resources and the essential tools for business operation;

Admission requirements:

Women and men who possess the following qualifications are welcome to apply for admission to the program:

1. An accredited undergraduate degree with a minimum grade point average of 80 or the equivalent.
2. Completion of the internal exam / GMAT exam / GRE exam with a minimum grade that will be determined periodically.
3. An excellent command of the English language.
4. Qualified candidates will be invited for an interview.

*For applicants who hold a foreign bachelor's degree, completion of the GRE exam

Program's structure:

Studies are conducted in non-thesis track only.

You may find additional information regarding the list of courses, specific time tables or any other relevant information, in the Graduate School of Management's website: <http://management.haifa.ac.il>

Eligibility for Master's degree:

Students will be granted a Master of Business Administration degree (MBA) providing:

1. The student has completed his studies, according to the school's demands and to the Graduate Studies Authority's demands, in both aspects of course quota and compound.
2. The student has achieved a passing grade (at least 65) in each of the courses.
3. The student has achieved a final weighted average of 76.
4. The final weighted average will consist of the following:

Grades of all courses within the program - 80%

Final project grade - 20%